

The Central Sahel – Burkina Faso, Mali, and Niger

The Central Sahel is among the most risk-prone regions in the world. In the last decade, the protection crisis and humanitarian crises in the region have worsened as the consequence of a sharp increase of violence, activities of armed groups and responses by the armed forces, combined with rising social and political tensions. Climate change, extreme poverty, rapid population growth and insecurity are driving high levels of vulnerability. Particularly women, the elderly, youth, persons with disabilities and children are paying a high cost. As the situation is becoming protracted, youth are deprived of opportunities, and a generation is losing hope for a better future whilst being unable to feed themselves or access education and highly needed health services.

DRC's Response

DRC assists people affected by forced displacement, contributes to the protection of their rights, and enhances resilience to achieve a better future. To address the complexity of displacement situations in an environment constraint by access and resource restrictions, DRC focuses on responding to 5 major trends:

- 1. Food Crisis: DRC reinforces market systems and financial inclusion to enable displacement-affected people and communities to better resist and responds to short term humanitarian needs with food distribution.
- 2. Scarce Resources: DRC develops innovative long-term programming, and tailored approaches to increase to mitigate the effects of diminishing resources fueled by population growth, climate change and forced displacement.
- 3. Rights Under Pressure: DRC continues investing on access and alliances to expand a principled response in hard-to-reach areas. We reinforce the collection of evidence, the monitoring of human right violations and provide an adapted response to reduce risks and protect people affected by forced displacement.
- 4. Violence: DRC expands and deepens its protection response to prevent and address consequences of violent behavior and develop multisector comprehensive responses to reduce inter-community tensions and increase social cohesion. We also promote conflict sensitivity and work alongside affected communities to make our responses more inclusive.
- 5. Vulnerable Youth: DRC makes sure youth and women participate in its interventions. We work to reinforce their leadership and influence in community processes; advocate for youth and women inclusion in decision making processes, develop program to reinforce their socio-economic autonomy.

Multi-Country Operations

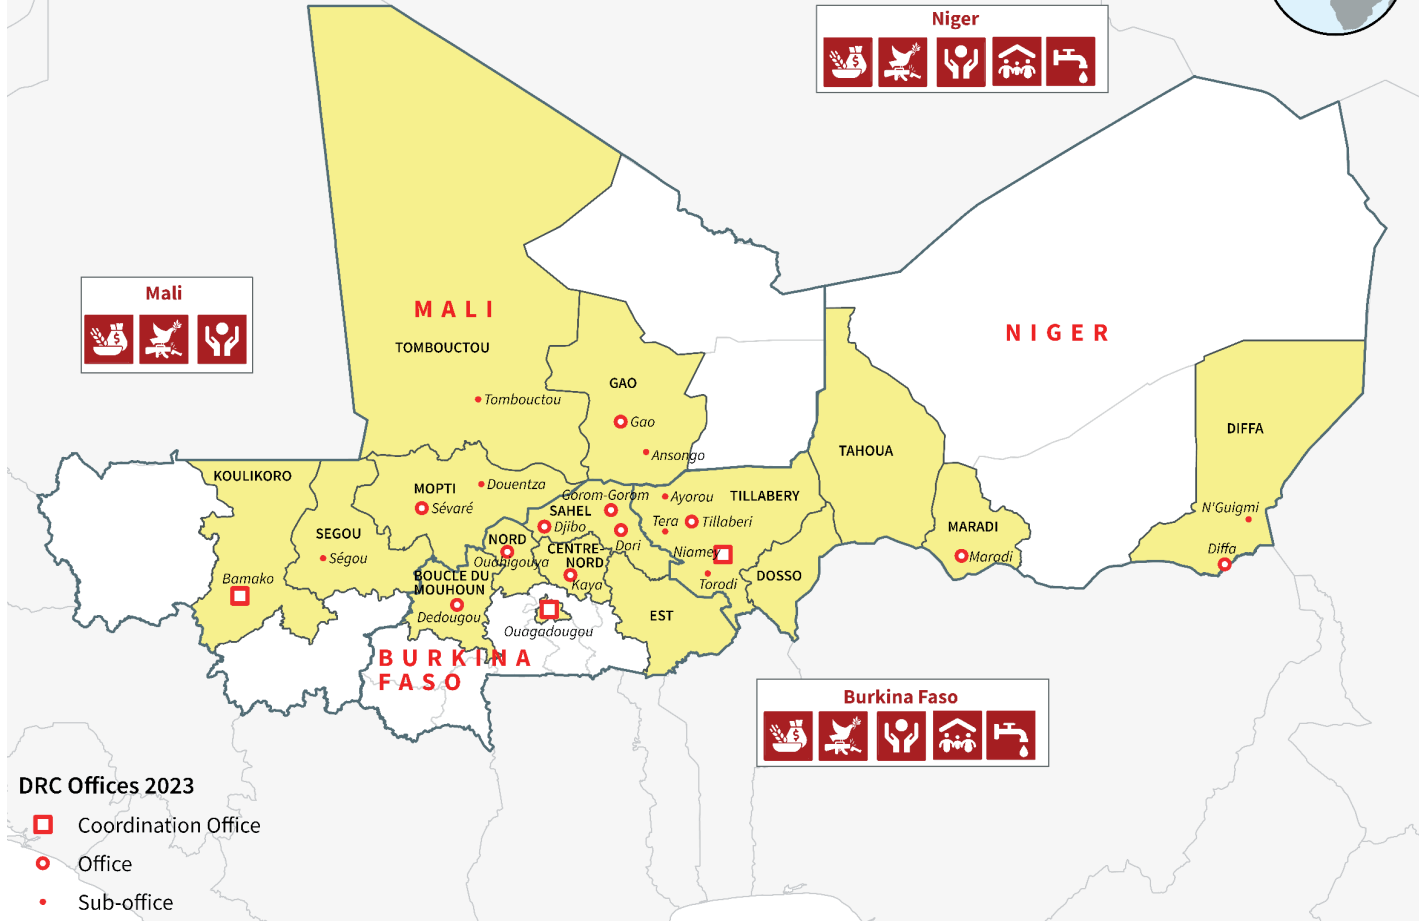

Given the cross-border/transnational specificities of the crises, DRC has deployed several multi-country operations:

- For improved evidence-based programming
- For anticipatory action, context analysis and support to the response
- For multi-country responses

Displacement Overview

- 18.1Mo persons are in urgent need of humanitarian assistance in Central Sahel. That's roughly one fourth of the region's entire population.
- The forced displacement situation has equally skyrocketed within the last ten years.
- The number of forcibly displaced has reached a staggering 4.1 Mo people of which 2.8 Mo are internally displaced. That's up from a total 2.3 Mo in March 2022.

About DRC in West Africa

DRC established operational presence in West Africa in 1998. Since 2020, DRC has consolidated its regional presence and strategic positioning to respond to protracted crisis through: development of strategic partnerships; innovative programming and research; creation of longer-term integrated programs around the Humanitarian-Development-Peace nexus, scale up of cash and voucher modalities and reinforcement of accountability systems and cultures. Today, DRC is a leading displacement organization in the region.

Strategic Objective 2025

DRC supports over 2,7 Mo vulnerable people affected by conflict and displacement in West Africa to increase their safety and access to basic services. DRC will strengthen its efforts in establishing partnerships with other actors to support more than 2,1 Mo people affected by conflict and displacement in the region to pursue self-reliance.
